AFFAIRS OF THE CHURCHES.

Dedication of the River-Avenue Baptist Church.

The River-avenue Baptist Church has just completed its new house of worship, and will dedicate it with appropriate services to-morrow morning. It is a handsome frame structure, surmounted by a neat tower, and has cost, including the furnishing, but not including the lot, about $2,700, all of which will be paid or provided for before the dedication. The auditorium is carpeted throughout, and is seated with benches of elegant design, finished in oak. The windows are of rich cathedral glass, and the whole interior finish, including the frescoing of walls and ceiling in artistic taste, has an extremely beautiful effect. The house as it stands reflects credit upon the builders and upon the Baptists of West Indianapolis—particularly upon Rev. T. J. Connor, whose labors in behalf of this enterprise have been indefatigable. Rev. Dr. Day will preach the sermon of dedication. The North and South churches give up their regular services, and will unite with the River-avenue congregation in the dedication.

Acton Camp-Meeting.

On Saturday next persons can go to the Acton camp-ground to select tents and make arrangements for attendance upon the approaching camp-meeting. Those who wish to go can confer with Dr. Keen or Mr. V. Wheeler. Special arrangements have been made with the Big Four for this trip, the train leaving for the camp-ground at 10:53 o'clock.

Religious Notes.

The Indianapolis district conference of the Indiana M. E. Conference meets on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next at Center Point. At Plymouth Church, Sunday, Mr. McCulloch will speak in the morning on "The Discontent of the Fortunate," and in the evening on "The Truth of God." The services at the Central Christian Church to-morrow will be conducted by the Rev. J. B. Smith, who will preach in the morning and evening.

Amusement Notes.

Madame Bloomfield, who is to appear at the popular concert beginning Monday evening, is considered one of the best pianists in this country. The double quartet which will sing at the first concert will consist of the Misses Adam, Snyder, Jordan, Herron, Willard, Johnson, Cooper and Pfafflin. Armin Becker, the violinist, who is also among the artists engaged, has just graduated with high honors from the College of Music, at Cincinnati. Tomlinson Hall, where the concert is to be given, will be handsomely decorated as the music stores will be during the season of the State Music Teachers' Convention, with which their concert is to be concurrent.
S. C. France closes his engagement at the Museum with the two performances to-day. He will appear in "Marked for Life," one of his most interesting plays.
"Pearl, the Southern Heiress," will be given this afternoon and evening at English's Opera-house. The play, with its incidental features of songs and dances is interesting.

AN INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION.

The Good Work Done by Pupils at Purdue as Seen at the Capitol Building.

Dr. J. H. Smart, of Purdue University, has on exhibition in the corridors of the State Capitol a very fine showing of the work of the industrial department of his institution. It consists of work in metal, and in all kinds of wood, and in designing, in short in all the departments of a well-ordered manual training school. He comes here to show it at the request and invitation of the school commissioners, who are just now investigating the subject of industrial education, and he will deliver a lecture next week on the display at the Capitol, and the work done at his college. The place chosen for the exhibit is an appropriate one, and the display itself is exceedingly interesting and very creditable to the students of Purdue. Among the prominent pieces of the machinery shown is a small stationary engine, of three-horse-power. The design and work of all kinds, from first to last, was done by students, and it is a creditable production. The sophomore class of the last year shows a lathe, which is as well made as if turned out of a practical manufacturing establishment. There is also shown among the machinery a section of a steam cylinder, in which all its different workings can be plainly seen, the valves, the slides, and all its attachments. This is a specimen of considerable size and it is especially well done. The exhibit in the way of wood work is very good. Articles of rare kinds, both of an ornamental and of a practical, useful nature are exhibited. The chief thing in this line is a beautiful pulpit. It is very elaborately decorated and is a production of rare artistic value. A good number of easels, patterns, tables and ornaments of different kinds are also to be seen in the wood-work display. In mechanical drawing the showing is also interesting. The whole exhibit deserves nothing but praise, and will amply repay a visit to the Capitol to see it.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE FOR JULY

Begins a new volume. Among the especially attractive features of this number is the second article of the Railway series (begun in the June issue) entitled: FEATS OF RAILWAY ENGINEERING, by John Bogart, State Engineer of New York, accompanied by more than thirty illustrations. Of this successful series The New York Times says:

"The railway series, which is begun in the June number of Scribner's, promises to attract new attention to this admirable periodical. There is not in American industrial life a topic which could possess a wider interest or which affects more directly the every day experience and observation of man and woman."

PROF. CHARLES A. YOUNG, the famous Astronomer, tells of the Summer Trip to Russia of the American Eclipse Expedition of 1887, fully illustrated. There is a delightfully illustrated article on "LIFE AND TRAVEL IN MODERN GREECE," by Thomas D. Seymour; ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON writes this month of POPULAR AUTHORS; the number contains also the second part of Henry James's novelette, "A London Life," an interesting installment of the serial "First Harvest," by F. J. Stimson, a short story by T. R. Sullivan, and Poems by Graham R. Tomson, Arlo Bates, George Parsons Lathrop, and A. S. Botsford.
